KATHLEEN PARKER

Kathleen Parker writes a syndicated column on politics, culture and media. In addition to receiving the 2010 Pulitzer Prize for Distinguished Commentary for “her perceptive, often witty columns on an array of political and moral issues” and the National Society of Newspaper Columnists’ 2019 Ernie Pyle Lifetime Achievement Award, Parker was the first woman to receive the H.L. Mencken Writing Award, presented by The Baltimore Sun in 1993.

The Florida native began her column in 1987 as a staff writer for the Orlando Sentinel. It was syndicated in 1995 by Tribune Media Services. She joined the Washington Post Writers Group in 2006.

Parker is the author of Save the Males: Why Men Matter, Why Women Should Care and a contributor to magazines such as Time, Newsweek, Forbes Small Business, Town & Country and Cosmopolitan. She was among the first writers Tina Brown recruited for The Daily Beast, and she served for several years on USA Today’s Board of Contributors. She is a longtime commentator on TV news programs and co-anchored CNN’s primetime Parker Spitzer with former New York Governor Elliot Spitzer.

A member of the South Carolina Academy of Authors, Parker divides her time between South Carolina and Washington, D.C. She is married to Columbia attorney Sherwood M. Cleveland and has three grown sons.

BERNARD E. POWERS

Bernard E. Powers, professor emeritus of history at the College of Charleston, taught United States and African American history at the College for 26 years and is now the founding director of the College’s Center for the Study of Slavery in Charleston. He also serves as the interim CEO of Charleston’s upcoming International African American Museum.

Powers’ Black Charlestonians: A Social History, 1822–1885 was named a Choice Magazine Outstanding Academic Book in 1996. He is the co-author of We Are Charleston: Tragedy and Triumph at Mother Emanuel and editor of the Encyclopedia of South Carolina. He has also appeared in films such as African Americans: Many Rivers to Cross and Emanuel: The Untold Story.

Powers serves as a consultant to historic preservation organizations, including the National Trust for Historic Preservation and the Drayton Hall Visitor Center and Interpretive Hall. In 2019, the Association for the Study of African American Life and History recognized his commitment to “research, writing and activism in the field of African American life and history” with the Carter Godwin Woodson Scholars Medallion.

Prior to joining the College, Powers was associate professor of history and department chair at Northeastern Illinois University. He is married to Lorraine O. Powers, a retired school administrator from the Dorchester County District Two School System.

COLLEGE OF CHARLESTON SEAL

Sapientia Ipsa Libertas — “Wisdom Itself Is Liberty”

Ædes Mores Juraque Curat — “She Cares for Her Temples, Customs and Rights”

In 1783, the City of Charleston adopted its official seal. It features a seated woman holding a scepter pointing toward the mouth of the harbor. The city skyline and a sailing vessel making for port are in the background; the motto Ædes Mores Juraque Curat surrounds the image. Traditionally, the woman portrayed in the seal is described as a personification of Charleston itself, and evokes an image of a city that derives its livelihood from the sea and is prepared to defend itself.

The College of Charleston seal is an adaptation of the city seal and was approved by the Board of Trustees in 1843. The phrase Sapientia Ipsa Libertas and the image of a young man holding a diploma were added to the College seal; the original, 19th-century Main Building (today's Randolph Hall) is in the background. The seated woman is presenting a laurel wreath to the young man (the City of Charleston incorporated the laurel wreath into its seal early in the 20th century).
